

Robin Denny

Barrister

Overview

Robin Denny enjoys a formidable reputation as a defence advocate. He has been successfully defending those accused of serious crime for many years.

He has vast experience of the full gamut of criminal offences:

- Homicide
- Serious sexual offences
- Drugs
- Offences of violence
- Driving offences, including causing death by dangerous / careless driving
- Fraud and money laundering

He enjoys working against the odds, and for the underdog. He has an impressive record of securing acquittals.

Robin has a particular interest in cases involving those who are engaged in country pursuits.

Notable Cases

R v Meman (2010) :
Sexual assault and inciting child pornography - acquitted

R v Miller (2010) :
Attempted murder - acquitted

R v Horsman (2010) :
Historic sexual allegations - acquitted

R v Watt (2010) :
Class A drugs - acquitted

R v Booth (2011) :
Fraud in excess of £100,000 - acquitted

Year Of Call:

1969

Practice Areas

Crime

Professional Qualifications

BA (Hons). Oxon -
Keble College

Continued...

R v Welsh (2011) :

Grievous bodily harm - acquitted

R v Jeffries (2011) :

Sexual assault of child - acquitted

R v Asif (2011) :

Wounding - ear biting - acquitted

R v Watkins [2010] EWCA 2349 :

Convictions for rape quashed

R v Hebden (2007) :

Successful appeal against sentence (burglary)

R v AG's Ref (No 71 of 2007) [2008] :

1 Cr App R (S) 78

R v Hay (2006) :

Successful appeal against Life sentence

R v MD (2004) :

Successful appeal against sentence (sexual offences against children)

R v Sullivan (2004) :

Successful appeal against sentence (offences including dangerous driving)

R v Sowerby (2004) :

Successful appeal against sentence (burglary)

Robin has appeared in what is now the Administrative Court, : for example in Middlesborough Council v Safeer [2002] 1 Cr App R 23

He has also appeared in the House of Lords :

- DPP v Hester [1972] 3 WLR 910; [1973] AC 296
- R v Webber [2004] 1WLR 404; [2004] 1 Cr App R (40): A conspiracy to murder case; a leading authority on the adverse inference direction